FOR ten Oban High School pupils, 2005 did not only mark another year but the beginning of what would turn out to be the 'best experience ever'.

In January 2005 fifth-year pupils were selected to take part in the annual school exchange to Oban's American twin town, Laurinburg in North Carolina.

The exchange, which has now reached its fourteenth year, involves a life-style swap as a group of pupils from Scotland High School in Laurinburg spend two weeks in the Lorn area living with Scottish pupils to get an insight into Scottish day-to-day life.

The whole experience is completed with the second half of the exchange
