

TRIPLE CELEBRATION FOR CANCER RESEARCH LADIES

THREE Oban women have won awards for more than a century of work between them for Cancer Research UK.

The three women June Pearson, Christine Pearson and Morag Gartshore have managed to stack up 103 years of service to Cancer Research UK between them.

June Pearson with 39 years, Christine Pearson with 38 years and Morag Gartshore with 26 years, each received a Certificate of Appreciation. The three are part of an Oban committee that was first established in 1965.

Along with the rest of the committee they work hard on trying to make sure they raise enough funds to benefit Cancer Research.

The three women work hard and are dedicated to their tasks of organising fundraisers, door-to-door and street collections, coffee mornings and raffles.

Marion Taylor, community fundraiser for Cancer Research UK Scotland says: 'I am delighted and very honoured to be presenting the three awards to the ladies of the Oban committee for all their hard work and dedication over the years'
