

Sensory Garden

takes shape

St Columba's pupils Lisa Parkinson, Anna MacKinnon, Keira Smith and Eilidh MacMillan with Oban Sensory Garden Committee member Joanna Kirsop. t18sen01

O BAN Sensory Garden began to take shape recently when the project's committee and green-fingered volunteers from local primary schools planted some shrubs at the site of the new garden at Christchurch.

The aim of the project is to create a garden accessible to all but in order to do so the committee must raise around £140,000. Lorn Life was there to catch the volunteers in action.

Some of the volunteers who helped to kick-start the garden project. t18sen02

