

ND PEACE MUSEUM

George Lyon MSP and Baroness Ray Michie join War and Peace members and directors to open the museum for summer 2004 museums and the presentation of information, over the past decade I have specially visited many other museums, have spoken with staff, and have taken note of the many different ways of presenting information.

I have also enjoyed observing the increase in materials of educational value or interest to the international clientele, particularly where there is now sufficient stock to allow a 'hands on' policy, one of the important policies of the Scottish Museums Council, of which the museum has become an Affiliate Member.

'It also gives satisfaction to know that there is sufficient stock to satisfy an increasing demand for the loan of exhibits without disturbing the display at the museum.

'Bodies such as schools, dramatic societies and those staging short term exhibitions have all made recent requests for memorabilia.

Hopefully it will have been worth the long uncertain wait.'

Councillor Duncan MacIntyre accepts a 5,717 signature petition from War and Peace Vice Chairman Bert MacBrayne