

Ross MacPherson

A WELL-known Argyll accordionist is continuing to sell out his Scottish shows in Oban following the launch of his second album this summer.

Ross MacPherson, who stays on a croft in North Lorn, launched the CD By The Shores of Loch Creran at the Isle of Skye Accordion and Fiddle Festival to rapturous reviews earlier this year.

He plays at the ever-popular Scottish shows at McTavish's Kitchen in Oban most week-nights.

The musician, who also tutors youngsters in the accordion, teamed up with world champion piper Angus MacColl on the new recording.

It also features an eclectic mix of piano, French horn acoustic guitar and bagpipes.

The CD is available locally at Oban Music shop, the Halfway House, Saulmore Farm Shop, and Connel Village Shop.

By The Shores of Loch Creran