

Out with the red

IT HAS been 'hello and goodbye' for the Oban and Lorn branch of Alzheimer Scotland this summer.

The branch has taken delivery of a brand new purpose built minibus designed to transport dementia sufferers and carers on outings, to day care and art classes. The new vehicle was delivered by Gleneagles Conversion's sales manager Iain Mungall to the branch's minibus committee.

The committee was delighted to see the new vehicle in Oban but long-time carer driver Ronalda McNeill said she was sad to see her old red bus replaced.

Alzheimer Scotland's public relations and marketing manager Kirsty Jardine travelled up from Edinburgh for the occasion and was shown some of the paintings local people with dementia have produced through their popular art classes at Willow View, Soroba.

Kirsty Jardine of Alzheimer Scotland looks at the paintings created by dementia sufferers at the art classes.

t29al206

Ronalda McNeill has her handkerchief out as she says farewell to the old minibus. t29al203

Na dìoch